HOW TEMPERANCE IDEA IS GROWING

Mrs. Hoge, in W. C. T. U. Ad-dress, Says Fight in Virginia Has Not Reached End.

With 173 delegates in attendance, ach wearing a small bow of white ribbon, the Virginia Woman's Christian at 412 Chamberlayne Avenue, Ginter Temperance Union began its thirtieth annual convention in Broad Street Methodist Church last night. A total membership of 3,987 was reported by Mrs. Howard N. Hoge in her annual address as president. These figures show a gain of 535.

The convention was called to order at 8 o'clock. After an opening hymn, Mrs. W. L. Bailes sang a solo, and Rev. Frnk 1. Wells offered prayer. W. J. Maybee read some verses from the third chapter of Revelation and talked for a short while on "The

The petition sets forth that a charter was granted in 1888 to the Sever track at Grove Avenue and Robinson track at Grove Avenue and Robinson Street, and Mr. Gunst gave notice that at the next meeting he would move to rescind the award of contract for paving the city's portion of Robinson Street, and that the Lee Ward delegation would urge that the money set apart for that contract be used for the grading of Park Avenue. The fact was immediately reported to the police, but the department was requested to keep it quit on the belief that Mr. Morrisette open all whiter, and it is now very doubtful whether the appropriation of the possible of the charter, the would return within the next few days.

On September 22 friends got a report that he had been in Washington, and while that city was searched no trace of him could be picked up. A few days later another report was rement that no money is needed in Virginia Railway and Power Company must give transfers to points within the city. As a matter of fact, this is not used, since the Rappahannock line runs for only four squares in the city—on Twenty-ninth Street from P to S Street—and the line is entirely suburban.

When the new company took over the property it refused to issue transfers, and has since persisted in such refusal, so that the people of Highland Springs, Seven Pines and other out-of-town citizens who use the line must pay double fare to get to downlown sections of the city or walk. Mr. Dowden claims in the petition that both in law and in justice the company should be required to issue transfers to the city lines, and that the Virginia Railway and Power Company should give them to the Seven Pines

Mr. Bryan called the meeting to order at 8:30 o'clock and stated the urgent nature of the business which brought them together. With the ejection, little more than a month or. brought them together. With the election, little more than a month on, he said, the Democratic party needs $1.200,000 with which to meet the legitimate expenses of the campaign. The national naance committee is lookregitimate expenses of the campaign. The national mance committee is looking to Virginia to raise at least $25,000 of this amount.

"If every Democratic voter in the State of Virginia," said Mr. Bryan, "will contribute thirty cents, we will raise that amount easily. I cannot conceive how any man that calls himself a Democrat can refuse to aid the party at this critical hour."

The chairman of the soliciting committees were each assigned their districts last night and will begin at once the work of collecting funds. These will be turned in from day to day to the chairman of the Third District campaign fund committee and by him forwarded to the national finance committee. Individual contributors will receive acknowledgement from both the district and national committees.

Virginia Has Raised $5,402. Virginia Has Raised $5,402.

wirginia Has Raised $5,492.

Mr. Bryan read a letter from Henry Morgenthau, chairman of the general mance committee, in which he stated that Virginia had up to last Wednesday contributed to the national campaign fund, the sum of $5,402. Contributions which have been forwarded from this State since that time, according to J. Taylor Ellyson, chairman of the State Democratic Committee, have raised the total to more than $11,000.

The Democratic party, according to Mr. Morgenthau, is confronted by a pressing situation, only one-fourth of the amount needed having so far been raised. Among the expenses which remain to be met by popular subscription, he mentions; $200,000 for publicity work and literature, $225,000 for organization work; and general campaign expenses which include such items s rentals, salaries, telegrams, telephones, express and postage. These will total from $25,000 to $35,000 weekly until the end of the campaign.

The request for contributions is often met by good Democrats with the statement that no money is needed in Virginia to carry the State for Woodrow Wilson—that it is safely Democratic anyway. Mr. Morgenthau takes particular pains to show up this fallacy by emphasizing the special need for

WILLING TO SELL WALKER BECOMES

Mrs. Augustus Post Won't Stand in Way of Bullets From Rifle Range.

Willing to give the State of Virginia anything it needs, Mrs. Augustus Post offers to sell to the Military Board home on the beach between the new rifle range and the ocean, in Princess Anne County. She has placed the matter in the hands of her attorney, who is authorized to negotiate a transfer.

Mrs. Post came to Richmond yes-terday and called at the office of the Adjutant-General. She explained there that she has no grievance against any one. She is very fond of the home she has established facing the sea, and becomes more and more attacked to it. But if the State needs the land for a rifle range, she will be content to part with it.

While the Commonwealth has the right to shoot over all the intervening lot, by reason of a deed from the owners of record, it was not contemplated that anyone would live there. Mrs. Post is supposed to have purchased on a contract, her claim not appearing on the records when the deed to the State was made. A representative of the War Department, making a recent official inspection, recommended that the site be approved, but only on condition that Mrs. Post should not be injured.

It is presumed that some settlement of the question will now be reached. It is possible the State may be able to use the house in connection with the annual camp of militiamen which it is expected to hold there.
